These plans as prepared by engineers of the commission will be submitted at the hearing as representative of the commission's opinion approximately as to what constitutes "adequate facilities" for the railroad and its allied lines in Atlanta. From information obtained following conferences of engineers and others rela-tive to the union station problem, it is believed that the commission's plans will be acceptable to the railroad authorities. Should this be the case, an almost instantly from a bullet wound order will be issued by the commis- in the heart while Murphy also died sion and construction work will begin immediately thereafter.

It was decided to give the railroad authorities until Saturday, September 17, for a reply, so that the engineers would have opportunities to make cost studies in connection with the new plans. These studies would have been made in any event and will not delay construction in any way, it was learned.

Two-Story Building.

Under the new plans, a two-story front on the Pryor street side, with a central entryway 50 feet in height, will be provided. Under the old plan offered by the railroad, a straight row of one-story buildings was planned for this side.

The new plans will provide also for an entrance from Wall street and both the Pryor street entrance and the Wall street entrance will be set back several feet from the street to afford room for taxicabs and automobiles to receive and deliver passengers.

Buff pressed brick will be used in construction, with a red tile roof. The Pryor street side will face 120 feet and the Wall street side will be 90 feet in length. A concourse will be built inside the building with stairrunning down to each track.

An undetermined number of passengers were shaken up but none was reportedly badly hurt.

The wreck was caused, it was reported, by a misunderstanding of train orders. The passenger train was reported to have been ordered on the side here, but passed McCracken on the main line ahead of its schedule.

A baggage car and 15 freight cars left the tracks. The locomotives were demolished.

UNION LEADER

Cleveland, August 21 .- (A)-Basing statement upon telegrams rewestern states, A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, tonight predicted that a strike affecting 70,000 railroad workers west of Chicago will be called early in September unless the roads meet the union wage demands.

Members of the trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors have been balloting for a week upon a proposal to strike, following the failure of attempts to settle their wage demands by mediation.

Reports from the west are to the mands by mediation.

Reports from the west are to the effect that a walkout is virtually certain in the event no settlement is reached, Whitney said,

Strike ballots were mailed out from Chicago about two weeks ago when conferences between executives of the trainmen and conductors, the railroad and a representative of the federal board of mediation ended in disagreement.

The ballots are to be returned to Chicago September 2, but the result will not be announced officially until September 4. If no agreement with the roads is reached by that time the men will walk out, Whitney said.

At last realizing that certain defeat by georgia furmers stares him in the face my opponent in the race for commissiner of agriculture, Eugene Talmadge, is mow turning "about face" in his campaign and is squealing for a chance to meet me on the stump at Covington, Ga., eart Saturday. After I have been making serious charges of incompetency against him for six weeks and after I have peroved them over and every again in statements to the press read by hundreds of thousands of readers. Talmadge now wants to alip off before a few hundred people and make some of his irrelevant excuses for his miserable failure to measure up to even the lowest standards as a commissioner of agriculture.

Talmadge is running his own compaign and his kind of campaign for the last two months has been to sit up on his throne at the capitol and watch in arrogance as the voters stepped up and handed him his reelection on a silver platter. Now that he sees certain defeat, he has changed his tactifies. He is now willing, after losing eight priceless weeks, to step down among the common people and discuss the issues of their department with them. But it is too late. The primary comes in less than a month. I have sought to get Talmadge before the people for two months and he has hidden himself away. For the short remaining part of the campaign I intend to continue to conduct my campaign my way, that is to show the people the numerous evidences of Talmadge's incompetency for the post of commissioner of agriculture.

For the rest of this campaign I have my engagements made. There are places in the Wednesday. Announcement was made by John S. Cohen, Georgia national committeeman. It was explained John R. Slater, who had formerly been selected for the honor, was undences of Talmadge's incompetency for the post of commissioner of agriculture. For the rest of this campaign I have my engagements made. There are places in the state I have not visited, and I am going to carry my case to these people. Let Talmadge, in his last minute frenzy, run around and try to break down the solid wall of opposition that surrounds him. Meanwhile let him tell the people wherever he decides to speak how he saved the state $51,000 for the first six months of 1928, as he claims, when the state trassurer says he withdrew $5.379.38 more money than his predecessor did for the same period the previous vear. If Talmadge drew out $5.370.38 more than his predecessor what became of the $51,000 he said he saved? Where is this money and who got it? West Branch, Iowa.—The complete text of Herbert Hoover's address delivered here Tuesday at his homecoming celebration:

This is a homecoming. It hardly seems an occasion for a lengthy political speech—rather is it an opportunity to recall old associations and renew old friendships.

I am glad, a son of Iowa, to come back to the place where I was born. Here I spent the first 10 years of my boyhood. Here my parents and my grandparents toiled, worshipped God, did their part in building this community, and now lie in the cemetery, over the hill.

During the past 44 years I have been turned into a moving picture house, which reminds me of the time the recent into a moving picture house, which reminds me of the time the recent into a moving picture house, which reminds me of the time to have had refersh the hedges and woods. It is the hedges and woods. It is the hedges and woods. It is the entry to life which I could wish for every American boy and girl.

Again today I have had refreshment of spirit in return to these scenes. The swimming hole is still in use. It has the same mud banks. It is still impossible to dress without carrying mud home in one's inner garments. As an engineer I could devise improvements for 'that swimming hole is still in use. It has the same mud banks. God, did their part in building this community, and now lie in the cemetery, over the hill.

During the past 44 years I have returned from time to time that I might pay respect to their memory, that I might express my appreciation of those kindly and sympathetic folk who, taking a boy to their hearts, wiped away the one grief of childhood. One of my vivid recollections was my carnest interest in the debate between neighbors and relatives when they were discussing not who was to assume me as a burden, but who was to take the boy as a member of their own flock. This is the spirit of the people of Iowa. It is the spirit of the thousands of villages and towns in all this wide land.

And I have no apology for even a more personal note.

There is present here today a lady who took part in that debate and who took part i those democrats and has been regenerated only in the last month.

I am proud to have been born in Iowa. I have ofttimes said that the good Lord made it the richest stretch of agricultural land that ever blessed any one sovereign government. It was settled by the adventurous, the courageous, who fought their way across the ever extending frontier. They have builded here in so short a period as 75 years a state with the least poverty, the highest average intelligence, the most generous education, which ever blessed a single commonwealth.

They have builded here in so short a period as 75 years a state with the least poverty, the highest average intelligence, the most generous education, which ever blessed a single commonwealth.

They have builded here in so short a period as 75 years a state with the lakes to the sea, will make an effective transportation system 12,000 miles in length penetrating twenty midwest states. It will connect these states with seaboard at the gulf on one hand and with the North Atlantic on the other. And this means more than the mere saving upon the actual goods shipped over these routes. It part of your crops can move to market a seven-to-ten-cent saving per bushel, the buyers' competitive bidding for this portion of the crop will force unly which ever blessed a single commonwealth.

And this development condenses and in front of a literal sea of expectant faces. "There is no imprint upon our minds so deep as those of early boyhood," he said. This development should tend to increase manu-facturing industry in the midwest and sion his audience gave him very close facturing industry in the midwest and thereby create a larger diversity of employment and a greater local market for agricultural products. Nor does this development mean the crippling of our railways. The annual increase in railway traffic will give to them a far more than complete offset to these diversions. Moreover, everything that increases the prosperity of the country also helps the railways. The policy of rapid consummation of this great project will be continued if the republican party to aid the farmer as to "enable him to attain his individuality."

hissed for silence.

Back among his home folks, Hoover wore a blue serge suit. He held firmly to the sides of the reading stand, a favorite pose, as he speaks. He started out recalling the days of his child-hood, his voice choked for a moment or two as the audience sat in silence. Tells of Boyhood.

Soon, however, he was off in a re-cital of boyhood pranks and the tension ended, the crowd laughing and ap-of the big tents, erected against the possibility of rainy weather, were filled to overflowing, the loud speakers carrying the message to the overflow outside, men or women who stood or sat upon the hillside in the beauties of a setting sun.

A vast radio hookup also sent the words of the candidate into almost every section of the country. Hoover's speech rounded out a day that will be marked for all time in West Branch history, a day he spent among boyhood friends, or visiting familiar scenes and breakfasting in the humble cottage that was his place of birth.

In Glare of Lights. All these things and the inspiration that he gathered from them was touched upon by the nominee in the opening of his address, an address delivered from a raised platform, under the glare of a score of huge electric lights and in front of a literal sea of upward the price of the whole crop.

And this development concerns not alone agriculture, but every industry and business in the midwest. The manufacturer and merchant in this section is suffering from a curtailment of his distribution field; his business.

Crowd Attentive.

As Hoover swung into his discus-born, paid a visit to the neat little cemetery on a nearby hill in which are buried his father and mother and again trod beneath the big trees in the yard about the house that was his Uncle Allan Hoover's in the days when that relative took the orphan boy under his roof.

But as the cool evening shadows lengthened across the little town nest-ling in the valley, "Bert" Hoover, the grown-up boy who had been enjoying for a day the sentimental recol-lections of his youth, became again Herbert Hoover, the presidential can-

With Miss Ilza Niemach, leading violin, the crowd stood and sang violin, the crowd stood and sang "loway," the state tune. The candidate smiled and moved his head slightly in unison with the music.

Tribute to Mrs. Hoover.

Governor Hammill presented Hoover, but before doing so he paid tribute to Mrs. Hoover, who was given an ovation as were her sons, Herbert, Jr., and Allan, when the governor called their names. The boys seemed a little embarrassed by the attention thus accorded.

As Hoover arese at 7:13 p. m., the vast throng was on its feet with him clapping and cheering for a full minute. Some of the audience remained standing and there was some confusion for a while as those behind to the candidate had bload to the little lowas town who hailed him at every turn, the high spots of his visit were the hundreds of persons to the little Iowa town who hailed him at every turn, the high spots of his visit were the moments he spent among his friends and creation from the signal for a demonstration was the signal for a demonstration from the signal for a demonstration was the signal for a demonstration was the signal for a demonstration from the signal for a demonstration from the signal for a demonstration from the signal particular for the little Iowa in turn, some to bring a smile of internal space of the obey and Charlie Coggéshall place, others to the little Io

Afterward Hoover again viewed the kitchen in which he had aided his widowed mother, later strolling out upon the back porch to again become prey to photographers. A touch of commercialism had been given the house by the installation of a booth on the front porch from which were sold pictures and souvenirs, while a banner stretched across one corner of the lawn invited all comers to try the brand of coffee "The Honorable Hoover had for breakfast."

The candidate and Mrs. Hoover then were driven to the little cemetery, more than a mile away, where, free from photographers, newspapermen and the curious they tarried for a few minutes at the grave of his parents. Guardsmen and Boy Scouts formed a line of sentinels half a mile away from the mound-covered hill to hold back any curious; but there was no effort on the part of the crowd to intrude upon their sacred minutes.

The line of automobiles dumped over the grassy pasture to stop beside a high bank. But Hoover would not recognize the spot as the one which held a place in his memory.

Newt Baker, a schoolmate of the nominee, volunteered to point the way to the right place, but the going be came too rough and Hoover gave up the task after having a clump of wil-lows indicated to him as "the place where we went in a thousand times."

where we went in a thousand times."

The candidate next moved toward the house more than a mile and a half from West Branch where he had lived with his uncle, Allan Hoover, after his mother's death. There the photographers captured him and led him with Newt Baker down a muddy road to a corn field where they posed for the moving picture news reel men.

The Kansas senator returned to the capital today to clear up his office, and to finish the opening address he will make on Thursday at Rocky Point, Rhode Island, at a republican rally. He will leave tomorrow for Rocky Point and probably will return again to Washington before going on to Syracuse, N. Y., where he will speak at the state fair next Tuesday.

Back in West Branch, the candidate and Mrs. Hoover held a recepsecretary of commerce. At the same time came news of the appointment of Edward F. Whiting, of Holyoke, Mass, paper manufacturer and a graduate of Amherst college, as his successor.

Although the long heralded appearance of the candidate had brought hundreds of persons to the little Iowa town who hailed him at every turn.

ANNOUNCING A Complete Cement Service

DUILDING material dealers who sell Lone B Star Cement now also sell "INCOR" the perfected High-Early-Strength Portland Cement. The Lone Star dealer is thus able to offer you a complete cement service-Lone Star for the job where time is not the most important factor-"INCOR" for the job where time

"INCOR" Cement, like Lone Star, exceeds U. S. Government standards. Both "INCOR" and Lone Star are uniform to an unusual degree. Both can be delivered when needed. Both are covered by a written guarantee.

"INCOR" Cement has all of the advantages of other Portland cements and, in addition, gives you concrete of assured permanency in 24 hours. It contains no admixtures of any kind and is used in exactly the same way as other Portland cements. The result of five years of research and exhaustive field tests, "INCOR" has proved itself in such important construction jobs as the Moffat Tunnel and the new Fox Theatre in New York City. .

If yours is a "rush" job "INCOR" is the only answer. "INCOR" may also be the answer for other jobs where time does not at first seem important. The saving in time and the earlier use of the structure often offset the slight extra cost of "INCOR". Let the Lone Star dealer help you determine whether "INCOR" or Lone Star is the cement for your particular job. He will be glad to do it. That's part of his complete service.

You can easily identify the Lone Star dealer by this familiar sign on his warehouse

GAINESVILLE VOTERS HEAR RIVERS SPEAK

Gainesville, Ga., August 21.—Judge W. B. Sloan, of the city court of Gainesville, adjourned his court here today and introduced State Senator E. D. Rivers to an audience who listened to him discuss his candidacy for governor. for governor.

Senator Rivers outlined the pro gram he is advocating for the state, including development of the natural resources, the building of a connecting system of highways without cost to the counties, the development of a real common school system, an increase in the equalization school fund, prompt payment of an increased pen-sion to confederate soldiers, the con-solidation of departments of state government, amendments to the state banking law in order to protect de-positors, and vigorously opposed spending huge sums of money in political campaigns. Advocating a program designed to bring about industrial and agricul-tural prosperity in the state, Senator Rivers said: "I do not mean to say Rivers said: "I do not mean to say that as governor I could wave a magic wand and transform Georgia overnight into a land flowing with milk and honey, but I do say if elected my administration will lay the foundation looking to the end of an industrial and agricultural prosperity. Our laws governing industry and business are little more than the archaic English common law, and have not kept pace with the economic growth of the state. These laws should be revised to provide the needed power, the proper protection both to the public and to business interests."

"If Georgia can put its politics on public and to business interests."

"If Georgia can put its politics on the plane of economic development and catch the kind of enthusiasm that will make for industrial expansion, rather than continuing in the quagmire of personalities, cap-stones to careers and clap-trap phrases, we can attain the leadership, not alone of the south, but of the entire nation."

broadcast through WSB and the NBC system at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Containing many beautiful lines, set to equally lovely music, it is one of the most effective of the Gilbert and Sullivan satires, and has found an enthusiastic audience in America.

The opera opens with maidens singing their love for Bunthorne, an "esthete." A young and healthy milkmaid. Patience, asks why they sigh; she twits them and says the dragoons are coming. They no longer care for dragoons, who now appear, but follow Bunthorne adoringly as he composes a poem while walking about. This he reads to them, much to the disgust of the dragoons and the gushing delight of his feminine audience.

Bunthorne admits he is a fraud. Patience appears. He makes love to her, but she runs away. Lady Angela counsels her that it is everyone's duty to love, and Patience agrees to follow her advice. Just then a real poet, Grosvenor, appears. Patience promptly falls in love with him, but he is unmoved.

Now Bunthorne led by the maidens.

main Bunthorne's. The latter appears and also the dragoons, who are now turned esthetic in order to claim the attention of the maidens. Grosvenor and Bunthorne meet; the latter accuses the former of controlling the attentions of the girls. Grosvenor says he cannot help it.

Bunthorne curses Grosvenor, and tells him to alter his ways. So the latter quits estheticism and becomes an ordinary young man—a mere commonplace—but the maidens also agree that now it is best to renounce estheticism, since "Archibald, the All Right" has done so. Patience, too, agrees, and leaves Bunthorne for Grosvenor. Thus, the maidens are left to accept the dragoons, and Bunthorne is left alone, save for his ubiquitous lify.

CAPITAL HOTEL

The proposed Hotel Capital, located on the corner of Forsyth and Mitchell streets, is right in the heart of the retail and wholesale districts of Atlanta. One block from the Terminal Station, which only recently spent $250,000 for umbrella sheds and enlarging its public lobby space. The Southern Railway is also spending something like $1,000,000 for enlargement of its office buildings near the Terminal Station—bringing to Atlanta 1,200 additional employes from their offices in Washington, D. C.

We have also been assured by high officials of the railroad world that the Terminal Station will not be moved for many years to come, if ever.

There is no fireproof hotel on the south side of Atlanta and with the business pendulum swinging in this direction the Hotel Capital is bound to pay from the very beginning.

All the Whitehall street stores recently vacated by the northward exodus have been leased by chain stores corporations who know the business of Atlanta is still on the south side—and, in many instances, higher rentals are being paid than was realized when the stores were vacated

Land Values

Asa G. Candler paid $5,000 a front foot for the lot exactly opposite the proposed site of the Hotel Capital, where a branch of the Citizens & Southern Bank is located, and the Bass Dry Goods property, just 30 feet below us, on the same side of the street, sold for $2,650 per front foot about 3 years ago.

Our lot is 130 feet on Mitchell street, running back  $97\frac{1}{2}$  feet on Forsyth street, with a lot in the rear  $55 \times 122\frac{1}{2}$  to be used for garage space.

Notwithstanding the fact that we furnish security of more than two for one on an interest basis, owing to present market conditions we are offering these bonds to the public at 7%.

Jonesboro, Ga., August 21.—(Special.)—George P. Whitman, Atlanta attorney, addressed the voters of Clayton county, at Jonesboro, today in the interest of Governor L. G. Hardman, who is seeking reelection. Mr. Whitman spoke for more than an

Mr. Whitman stated that the qualifications which fit a man for public office are changeless and that state problems demand we elect such men to public office as meet qualifications set forth by Jetho's advices to Moses, when he said "Moreover, thou shall provide out of all the people, able men. such as fear God, men of truth, meeting covetousness and place such men over them, to be rulers;" and that the people of Georgia had selected such a man in Governor Hardman.

With reference to the reorganization of the highway board, whose methods of road building Mr. Whitman said even Mr. Rivers now concedes must be changed, the speaker pointed out that he had failed to offer any definite plan of road building financing, thereby either having no real plan to offer or evading the issue in this respect. His uncertain attitude was thus brought into sharp contrast with the definite statement of Govwith the definite statement of Governor Hardman that he would recommend that the people should have opportunity to express themselves on the question of a bond issue for the building of a state system of permanently paved roads, provided, however, that the highway department should be reorganized in such manner as to insure the people against waste or extravation and people against waste or extravations. ### Kessnich-McCullough Wedding Dinner Honors Miss Knight Next | Takes Place at All Saints Church

The marriage of Miss Anne Elizabeth Kessnich and Ernest Leland Mc-Cullough was solemnized with impressive dignity Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock in All Saint's Episcopal church, on West Peachtree street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Rannondo de Ovies, chaplain of the University of the South, at Sewanee. Tenn., in the presence of a group of immediate relatives and close friends. The church was adorned with palms and baskets holding large white dahlias, white seven-branched candelabra held white candles, and were placed Friday Evening Fort McPherson, Ga., August 21.—
Miss Katharine Knight, of Montclair, N. J., the attractive guest of Miss Dorothy Tebbetts, will be honoree at a dinner Friday evening given by Miss Catharine Ripley at her quarters in the garrison. Miss Ripley's guest list will include a number of the junior set of the post.

Recent popular additions to garrison circles are Major and Mrs. Carl H. Seals, who arrived this week by motor to make their home at the post. Major Seals has been on duty for the past two years with the organized reserves in Philadelphia and now has been assigned to the Twenty-second University of the South, at Sewanec, Tenn., in the presence of a group of immediate relatives and close friends. The church was adorned with palms and baskets holding large white dahlias, white seven-branched candelabra held white candles, and were placed on the altar.

Miss Beulah Perkins was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She was gowned in a model of flat beige crepe and a becoming imported French model brown hat, with accessories to match. She carried a greatful because of been assigned to the Twenty-second infantry. Major and Mrs. Seals have just completed a two-month leave, dividing their time between Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, as the guests of Mrs. Seals' parents, Colonel and Mrs. G. L. Byroade, and Birmingham, Ala., as the guests of Major Seals' sister, Mrs. R. L. Gregory. At present the Seals are occupying an apartment in building 27 but next week will find them at home to callers in quarters. graceful bouquet of yellow roses.

Beautiful Bride.

The beautiful bride was given in marriage by her father. Charles Emile Kessnich and were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, his brother, Gresham McCullough. She wore a handsome gown of brown transparent velvet, the skirt introducing the modish effect of being fashioned longer in the back than the front, and flounced with two flaring ruffles, fitting closely around the hips and meeting a long-waisted bodice, which was finished with a narrow bertha of velvet, edged with lace, which formed a deep cape in the back. Brown suede slippers and stockings to match completed the costume, and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies, centered with four Brazilian orchids.

Mrs. Charles Kessnich, mother of the bride, was gowned in beige chiffon, wore a green hat and her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. John M. McCullough mothers of the produce firm of McCullough longh, Sr., mother of the groom, was it led until finally Chatterer poked his head out of a little hole several feet above the ground. It was good to peek out. It was good to get the fresh air. But Chattered did no more than peek out. He didn't take any chances. He had had too great a fright for that. Yes, sir, he had had too great a fright for that. He didn't was poke his nose out any farther even poke his nose out any farther than he had to in order to see. At first Chatterer didn't see any-thing out of the usual, but a moment later a faint rustle of the leaves caught his quick ears. He looked in that direction. Then he almost swallowed his breath. There was a kitten. There was no doubt as to what it was. But it was a kitten with it was. But it was a kitten with only the tiniest stump of a tail. Even as Chatterer noted this there was a rush and another kitten pounced on this kitten. Then over and over they rolled in the leaves. They pretended to bite. They cuffed each other. They kicked with their hindfeet. Suddenly one of them got to his feet and scampered off. In an instant the other was after him. They were playing. Yes, sir, they were playing. It was rough-and-tumble play, but it was play just the same.

But Chatterer didn't have to wait long to find out whose babies these were. Out of the shadows stepped Mrs. Yowler the Bobcat. You may be Mrs. Yowler the Bobcat. You may be sure that Chatterer drew in his head hastily. She stretched out on the ground lazily, all the time fondly watching those kittens. They pounced on her. They tumbled over her. They played with her twitching stub of a tail. She rolled them around with her big paws. Now and again she licked one of them. It was plain to see that Mrs. Yowler

Now and again she licked one of them. It was plain to see that Mrs. Yowler was very fond and very proud of her babies, as, of course, a mother should be.

For a long time Mrs. Yowler and the kittens played together. Then the kittens grew tired and curled up against their mother for a nap. She herself blinked sleepily. Somehow or other, she didn't look the fierce hunter that Chatterer knew her to be. He thought of this as he watched bunter that Chatterer knew her to be. He thought of this as he watched her. And then a thought came to him which brought with a feeling of panic. These kittens would grow up. Already there were Mr. and Mrs. Yowler hunting nightly through the Green Forest, and with two more of these fierce hunters, life would be very hard, indeed, fon the little people in the Green Forest. Suddenly Chatterer wanted to get away from there. He wanted to get away from there. He wanted to get home to his own part of the Green Forest, over near the Old Orchard, at Farmer Browne's. He wanted to be where he would not be likely to have Yowler and Mrs. Yowler and these little Yowlers as neighbors. Without thinking, he dug his claws into the wood. They made a little sound. In an instant the fierce hungry eyes of Mrs. Yowler were staring straight up into his own. (Copyright, 1928, by T. W. Burgess.)

VICIOUS VANITIES.

Of all of the vanities, I think the one that takes the blue ribbon for futility is that of getting shoes that are too small. They may make your feet look smaller for a short time, but besides causing a lot of foot troubles, they are soon stretched and out of shape, and make your feet look larger than shoes that were a size or so larger, would, originally.

In the summer time it is wise to get a shoe that is one-half to one size larger, because the heat causes the feet to expand. Not infrequently, those who are too heavy, and sometimes others, will have a little lowering of the arch of the foot as they work and the latter too halfs is not unusual in the latter to enails is not unusual in the latter.

if the arch flattens considerably, a

Get your shoes long enough and

The home treatment is as follows: Soak the foot in hot, soapy water; separate the nail fold as far as possible, and dust with boracic acid powder or apply ichthyol ointment. Better insert a little strip of absorbent cotton or lint. If there is pus formed, it's a good idea to wash out the spot with peroxide of hydrogen before putting in the medication and cotton. Chicks Outhit Atlantans But Fail To Bunch Blows; Blethen, Dudley Hurl.

BY BEN COTHRAN,

Constitution Staff Correspondent.
Memphis, Tenn., August 21.—(Special.)—Should anyone ask you about the Crackers, you may say that they are very well, which is remarkable in view of the fact that Saturday, as everyone and your bootlegger knows, the boys lost 15 games in one day, Memphis beating them once and a league ruling 14 times.

Naturally that brought about a letdown. The team that played Sunday.

Naturally that brought about a letdown. The team that played Sunday wasn't the same team. Monday the boys had a day off to think it over and today they went out and did something. They slugged toe-to-toe with Memphis, broke a tie, staved off rallies and played a brilliant brand of baseball to emerge from the darkness that prevailed at Russwood park victors over the Chicks by 5 to 3.

It was a hard fought battle and it wasn't over until Umpire Held's voice bellowed the last out. You could hardly have told when the last out was made because the players on the field were to those in the grandatand.

the Chicks weren't defeated in submissive mood. After the Crackers when a man got on, Mr. Held would scored one in the third they tied it up.

When Atlanta scored two in the sixth when a man got on the Chicks came right back with another run. It was the same in the eighth, and that eighth was almost the cause of a different story. But the Crackers, in the cellar though they are, have fight and they fought

The disadvantages of having one was because to light in the state of the plate. Possibly Mr. Held was getting in shape for the next marathon thing of Mr. Pyle's.

The disadvantages of having one the Crackers, in the cellar though they are, have fight and they fought today. After three men in a row had singled off Blethen in the eighth, Dudley came in and good pitching, coupled with heady work on the part of Jim Poole got the side out with another run. Billy Rhiel played a sparkling game at third base, handling six chances—hard ones—without the semblance of an error. Young Leo Bader, working his head off at short, the left of the second when, with first half of the second when, with two away, Johnson walked Oldham, Bader and Zoeller to fill the bases. Lineup Shifted.

When the Crackers galloped on the field, if Atlanta hadn't been spreadeagled across their shirt fronts, you wouldn't have known the boys. The akipper had spent three-fourths of last night switching his lineup and finally in second place with Max West dropped down a couple of notches to perform that arduous task of cleanup man.

Then, too, that man Blethen started pitching and was batting in seventh feasiting Red Oldham another pitcher.

Spiller Making Progress in His Fight for Lost Games

Rumors Afloat That Meeting Will Be Held

Club Owners Are Lining Up With Cracker Boss in His Battle.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Memphis, Tenn., August 21.—Colo-nel Rell Jackson Spiller, boss of hapless Crackers, came to town today.

The colonel had blood in his eyes The colonel had blood in his eyes and revenge in his heart. Of course you know why. His team lost 15 games in one day and he's determined to get 14 of 'em back, the 14 being lost when Birmingham protested Atlanta's eligibility list, it was found the Crackers had one Class "A" man too many and President Martin ordered 14 games won by Atlanta forfeited to opponents.

There is only one way that Colone There is only one way that Colonel Spiller can get the games back. There must be a meeting of the board of directors of the Southern Association of Professional Baseball Clubs—yes, the entire thing—and six of them must vote to overrule President Martin's decision.

Meeting May Be Called.

From the undercurrent of rumor and discussion about the town today came bits of apparently authoritative information that would lead one to Atlanta, of course, will be one of the clubs calling for the meeting. Birmingham, of course, won't. Little Rock, given a three-game impetus by forfeiture of the games, probably won't be in favor of a meeting. And is so it goes. Last night this correspondent didn't think the meeting would ever be called. If you'll allow us to change our mind, it begins to look as though it will be called. And we aren't by ourselves. There are others. And if that happens, then these same directors will have to go out to some man and inform him that he has been man and inform him that he has been man and inform him that he has been selected to be president of the South-ern association, etc., for a certain yearly consideration which is considerable.

For President Martin has said that if the decision is overruled his resignation will be available at once.

So there's that to be considered.

Then there's something else, One man, provingent in the league with whom provingent in the league with whom prominent in the league, with whom this correspondent has discussed the situation several times, is in favor of Color situation several times, is in favor of a meeting. And though he has not said so, we believe he thinks the games should be given back to Atlanta. Why, do you ask, do they make a rule if it is not going to be enforced?

Well, you know, baseball is an industry. Men buy baseball clubs to wake a recer. When their glub is an industry. When their glub is an industry. When their glub is an industry. When their glub is an industry in the like and he's going to say the like and he's going t make money. When their club is up statistics and the like and he's going n the race they make it. When their to do something. And soon.

It can be held only upon written call of four members of the association if the president refuses to call it, which he has. ## Zip Newman Backs President Martin In His Decision

NEWS.

Birmingham, August 21.—Birmingham fans were all set for a neck-and-neck fight between the Barons and Crackers. None of them feared the Crackers and looked upon the approaching series with an idea that the Atlanta club would be vanquished, after making it interesting. No little sympathy has been expressed here for some of the players, but none sympathy has been expressed here for some of the players, but none for Niehoff and Spiller. Local fans sized Spiller up after he filed a protest against Birmingham's opening day attendance record. They couldn't understand the man, Birmingham papers having complimented Atlanta each time she won the attendance trophy. Birmingham came in for ing complimented Atlanta each time she won the attendance trophy. Birmingham came in for no little adverse criticism as a result of Spiller's charges.

Birmingham fans feel like there is no place in Southern league baseball for Spiller and if Martin's decision will hasten his exit, there will be great rejoicing here. The consensus of opinion here is that Spiller and Niehoff knew that they were violating the rule and were trying to see whether they could get away with it. Niehoff has critized the Birmingham club as being a very dumb outfit and now the boys are laughing at him. Dropping Atlanta out of the race is going to hurt attendance—so has the split season, but the decision should be a lesson to Southern league owners to watch their steps. The argument that rules have been violated in the past and that Atlanta's violation should be overlooked is a poor one. It was not Atlanta's first offense under Spiller's regime.

If the Barons are guilty of any not Atlanta's first offense under Spiller's regime.

If the Barons are guilty of any misconduct, then they should be punished. Ray Francis' contract was approved by both the Southern league executive and Farrell's office. Atlanta papers printed stories that Francis had been given his outright release three weeks before he came to the Barons.

No doubt competition will be keen between Birmingham and Atlanta clubs in the future. However, this will not hurt the game,

"Seventy-Two" Fight Card.

A most interesting sports experiment is to be worked at the city auditorium on August 29. There are several angles to which sports importance may be attached, but the most important has to do with the fans and their interest in boxing.

On the date mentioned above the Chevrolet Motor company of Atlanta will stage a boxing card at which there will be no admission charge. The fighters will not be cuffing each other for a percentage of the gate, for there will be no gate. The entertainment is to be staged for the edification of the "Seventy-Two" club of the Chevrolet company and other friends of the company here.

The fight fans of Atlanta have been patiently watching a lot of oxing bouts in recent years wherein some of the principals have practiced every known artifice in the stalling racket. The chief reason for this (so the promoters claim) is that the boys will not fight for their percentage of the gate when the gate is very uncertain to say the least.

This card next week will feature a lot of good fighters and their recompense will be assured before the fight starts. They will have no reason to stall because they will have no reason to believe that their pound of flesh will not be awaiting them when the fight is over. It will be a good opportunity for the fans to find out just how much stalling has been caused by uncertain pay checks.

The card for the free show carries some very interesting names. among the fisticuff artists who have attracted considerable attention around these parts and who will appear on the card next week are Simon Kessler, Jake Abel's heavy protege, Homer Reid and Battling Maddox, two 130-pound flashes, and other local boys.

The final bout will feature a lad who formerly lived in Atlanta and whose record in the ring has been enviable since he joined the police force in Miami and started fighting. Earl Hudson is his name, and he has a long list of knockouts. He battles Gunner DePratt, of Fort Benning, who has beaten Willie Ptomey, former service champion.

If Simon Kessler happens to be a student of the science which ataches particular importance to the names of individuals he will have most unpleasant time contemplating his bout with "young Jack Dempsey," the terrible mountaineer from Ellijay, Ga. It is said that this same Britons Lost on Course.

It could be said for the Britons,

New York, August 21.—(A)—

Shaking off the restraint previously imposed by tightening credit conditions, the stock market today staged one of the broadest rallies of the summer. Nearly two score rails and industrials were lifted to new high records on gains ranging from 1 to 10 points. Total sales aggregated nearly 3,000,000 shares.

Encouraged by improving business conditions, particuarly in the steel, copper, packing and other basic industries, operators for the advance bought heavily and receeded in attracting a large public following. Call money renewed at 7 per cent, as Mail order shares again changed tries, operators for the advance bought heavily and discoeded in attracting a large public following. Call money renewed at 7 per cent, as against 6 yesterday, and then advanced to 7.1-2 as banks called more than $30,000,000 in loans. Higher call money next week was predicted in some banking quarters, but this failed to discourage pools, who based their campaign on the large current earnings and bright prospects of leading industrial and railroad enterprises.

Rail Shares in Demand.

Railroad shares were heavily bought in anticipation of unusually heavy crop movements this fall. Texas & Pacific ran up nearly 7 points to a new high at 189.7-S as against a low of 99.1-2 earlier in the year and St. Louis Southwestern moved up 5.3-4 points to a new top at 105. Rock Island common, St. Paul preferred and a few others also topped their previous 1928 highs, while substantial agains were recorded by Baltimore & Ohio, New York Central, Canadian Pacific and Pere Marquette, "Bear" traders, who have been stubbornly contesting the advance,

Stimulus was given the upswing in the carriers by the favorable character of July earnings statements now being made public and by the outlook for increasing traffic with fall business expansion.

EVENING SUN.

EVENING SUN.

New York, August 21.—The stock market and the money market today again held the center of the financial stage. After renewing at 7 per cent the call money rate pushed up once more to 74 per cent, where it closed yesterday. Market refused to be flurried, however, and the course of prices was pretty consistently upward. The last half hour saw one of the best railies of the day with such well-known leaders as General Motors, Steel and Montgomery Ward in the van. In most cases final prices were approximated 3,-000,000 shares.

At 2 o'clock more than 30 issues had climbed to new highs for the year or longer and this list was expended slightly before the close. In the group were Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck, American Can, Best, Paramount, Union Carbide, Loft, Mathleson Alkall and Otis Steel.

One of the rather curious features of the present speculative situation is that while the strongest bullish argument available is the steady increase in commercial and industrial activity. This subject comes in for comparatively little discussion in commission house bulletins and conversation.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, August 21.—Today's market showed further resistance to high money rates and the advance in industrials was participated in by rails and utilities. We continue to recommend both groups, while advising great caution in selecting individual issues. Among the rails, M. K. & T., Missouri & Pacific, and Erie, of non-dividend payers, and Texas & Pacific, Southern, New York Central and Atchison among dividend payers, seem especially attractive.

In the utility group we continue to recommend National Power & Light, Electric Power & Light, American Power & Light, Southeastern and Public Service of New Jersey.

gards the boll worm situation, especially in Texas.

After ruling somewhat lower in early hours, due to lower cables than expected, the market bulged sharply in consequence of prospects for general improvement in business, because of light certificated stocks, especially in New York, about 11,000 bales against about 200,000 last year but mainly owing to reports of boll weevil increasing. Vicksburg, Miss., wired in part: A & M. college report: Boll weevil damage in Mississippi during the past week was about double that of the preceding week as shown by the state plant board investigations on 95 farms in 21 counties. Weevils were present on all the farms except one, with average infestation of 32 per cent against 16 per cent for the preceding week and 11 per cent for the week before.

New York, August 21.—Crop deterioration and increasing damage from the weevil made themselves felt today and the market scored a good sized advance after a poor start. There was a steady flow of deterioration and weevil damage reports from all sections of the belt and official reports from Mississippl, Georgia and South Carolina of greatly increased damage from the weevil. The A. & M. college reports weevil damage doubled in Mississippl during the past week and Clemson college reports 63 per cent infestation in fields that have not been polsoned. New Orleans, August 21.—The weather map today was almost entirely dry exceptor a few showers on the cost in the At

The high temperatures in many part of the belt have caused cotton to open prematurely which may cut the yield down some.

Cotton Letters.

New York, August 21.—Apparently the cotton trade is becoming apprehensive as to the probability of boll weevil increasing and doing real damage to the growing cotton crop and much uneasiness prevails as regards the boll worm situation, especially in Texas.

Penn Dixle Cement omitted its common dividend. This is no surprise to us as we have steadily recommended avoiding his stock. We also consistently recommended against Chandler which showed a profit of only 2 cents a share on the preferred stock in the last quarter. Manhattan Electrical Supply went lower. We do not advise the purchase of this issue at any price.

Cotton Briefs.

Wall Street Briefs.

Reports of increasing boil weevil infestation or damage have been reaching here from nearly all states and seem to have been taken rather more seriously while the outlook for further showers in the eastern belt was not a favorable feature in this respect. The market met increased offers above the 19-cent level for October and December, however, and the presence of bearish or reactionary sentiment was reflected by subsequent sethacks.

Strike Vote Under Way.

Western trainmen number 95,000 were taking a strike vote today as a result of the recent wage advance refusal of the managers. Wall street believes that with the presidential election ahead there will be a compromise on the wage dispute. Before the 1920 law was passed calling for a full discussion of railroad wage disputes before a strike is called, it was a regular happening for railroad strikes to be called a few months before a presidential election. Apparently the influence of the 1920 traisportation act has lost its force. One sexplanation for the revived strength and activity in railroad shares is that Like Farm Problem. Apparently Germany has a situation in its locomotive building industry that strongly suggests our farmers problem. From the information at hand coming from Berlin it appears that the German government has rejected the demands of the locomotive builders on the ground that before asking for government aid the sick ently the influence of the 1920 transportation act has lost its force. One explanation for the revived strength and activity in railroad shares is that from now on many companies are expected to make favorable monthly erning statements compared with the corresponding period of 1927. It was just a year ago that the railroads began to show declines in monthly gross and net.

During the war our own locomotive building companies greatly increased production capacity in response to both domestic and foreign demand. After federal war time control ended in 1920, the railroads were in need of additional equipment and when money began to get cheap following the widespread deflation period beginning in 1920 the railway equipment building companies were swamped with busicompanies were swamped with business.

The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOGGS

A TARREST A

The young Elizabeth is bacoy. When and is four years old she runs away from home is four years old she runs away from home is four years old she runs away from home is four years old she runs away again, this time from school and to the home of her aunt Dolly, in London. Dolly, who is almost as flightly as the young Elizabeth sympathizes with her niece, much to the irritation of her stepson, Stephen Whitby.

After the death of her parents Elizabeth goes to live with her aunt. During the war they keep themselves busy and also amused by performing in amateur thearricals for the benefit of wounded solders. Stephen, homs on leave, is asked by his attemptore to bring Mark Lennox, a young playwright, to one of their performances.

The horty after the mode of the performances. The horty after the mode of the stephen inheritance as well. Afraid to face Stephen after this revelation, Elizabeth decides to go to Mark Lennox in London and ask him to get her a job on the stage. Stephen finds her with Mark and, although his business has failed, he of fers to help her. She retuses his help and advice, and takes a part in Mark's new play on the opening night she getts stage fright, and runs off, leaving an understudy to take over her part. Miss Smilley, who happens to be in London visiting het courter Mark and, although his business has failed, he of fers to help her. She retuses his help and did ady in the country. Julian Vesington, the old lady's grandnephew, makes all the arrangements with Elizabeth.

Stephen arranges with his cousin, William Whitby, to take over the management of the latter's business.

Elizabeth grows fond of Mrs. Vesington, who showers attention upon her young companion, but the girl misses youth'ul companion, but the girl misses youth'ul companion, but the girl misses youth'ul companion, but the girl misses youth'u a burden before it could hear it again. Then she shuddered, wondering at herinto her mind? There was nothing there, just that old bar, an empty bar which waited. . . .

The wind wailing over the marshes blew the bough of the high tree outside against the window panes. "It's just that tapping that gets on my nerves," she told herself. It is too high for anyone to do anything I suppose, even if there was anyone to do it or to care. How fanciful Mrs. Vesington would think me; a thing like that would mean nothing to her, certainly it would not keep her awake. It must have been tap, tap, tapping for ages, perhaps for years; how long has its insistent fingers rapped out that secret message? Had the other girl heard it? Was that why she had gone mad in the end; perhaps why she had died. Tap, tap, tap. . . till it would wait no long er and one had to do what it said. And so she had.

"I won't go to sleep," she thought fearfully. "I daren't. Suppose . . . she crept into bed with me, put fingers round my throat and squeezed and squeezed . . long white fingers like white lace, but O, $\gamma$ strong." Then suddenly it was other and squeezed . . . long white fingers like white lace, but O, so strong, so strong." Then suddenly it was other fingers she saw, not the fingers of youth but of age—and those things which lie beyond age.

"Please, God, stop me going on like this!" she prayed, "and O, don't let me go to sleep, don't let me go to sleep, don't let me go to sleep!" In the end weariness had its way, and she well into a nightmare. steep: In the end weariness had its way, and she well into a nightmare sleep where Stephen gibed at her from the top of a tall tree reaching into heaven fiself. "But there aren't such things," objected Elizabeth jected Elizabeth.

Elizabeth was writing the letter to Stephen by the light of two candles, which were all she was allowed for the vast room. Another of Mrs. Vestington's economies. They but served to illumine the darkness.

"Well, if he thinks the ending is cheeky, I can't help it," she thought. "I shan't care either if he's marries some beastly woman. Then if I simply had to leave here there would be nowhere to go, for if he thinks I would stay with his wife he's jolly well mistaken, that's all. I'd die first—or hang myself."

She glanced up fearfully at the iron bar above the windows. It looked strong . . . as if having borne such a burden before it could hear it again. "I know that child, yet all the same

"As it is I might as well be dead for all the notice he takes . . . or he might be dead," her eyes dilated. "But he will answer my letter, he'll have to because I've begged him to, and if he didn't it would show there was some woman, and he isn't like that. Not Stephen."

"Of course not," said Mrs. Ves-gton. "Why should he be just like

ROBINS TRIM CARDS.

St. Louis, August 21.—Brooklyn pounded film Rhem for 12 anfeties of varying careful to spread them at decent intervals. After stepping aside for a pinch batsman in the eighth, Rhem turned over a deficit of only 2 to 1 to Sylvester Joinson, who promptly removed the last lingering doubt regarding which team would win.

Against the sort of ball McWeeny served, a lead of 2 to 1 was as large as one 1 to times that great, but Johnson tossed in four more Brooklyn runs just for good measure. This feat was accomplished simple and an intentional pass. The free ticket treatment, paved the way for Flowers to go out but worked poorly against Baneroft, who Company with two doubled to empty the bases.

One of the most thrilling and stirring dramatic spectacles of all mo-tion picture time is "Four Sons," the powerful Fox Movietone special which is playing this week at the Rialto Brunswick, Ga., August 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. Nellie Hanks McDonald, 81. one of Brunswick's best known women, who died at a local hospital yesterday morning, was buried today. Funeral services were held from St. Mark's Episcopal church.

Mrs. McDonald was born in Newborn. S. C. She resided in Darien a number of years before removing to Brunswick forty years ago. She is survived by one sister. Mrs. Mamie Crosby, of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, a sister-in-law, Mrs. Belle McDonald, of this city, and several nieces and nephews. Is playing this week at the Kiatto theater to capacity audiences. "Four Sons" not only is outstanding because of its dramatic excellence but it also has a nice vein of comedy relief woven through it. Indications are that Atlanta will demand another week of "Four Sons." A bill of Vitaphone vaudeville and Movietone news also are seen this week

Brought back by popular request, Rudolph Valentino in "The Son of a Sheik," with Vilma Banky, will be today's screen feature at the new Empire theater, corner of Georgia avenue and Crew street. Valentino, the idol of film fans of several years ago, will be shown in what critics have claimed as his best picture of his career. JOINT SERVICES HELD FOR O'HARA MEMBERS

Joint funeral services for Mrs. Edward O'Hara and Michael Gorman, both members of the O'Hara clan of frish horse traders, were held Tuesday afternoon from the Church of Immacuate Conception. Interment was in West View cemetery.

Both members of the tribe died within the month and although it is the usual custom to have funeral services.
